

Get the facts about renewable energy

ISES offers webinars for free and through them strives to educate and inform about renewable energy technologies.

Webinar panelists are distinguished experts from research, academia and industry. Panelists share their knowledge and passion during the webinar on a voluntary basis and answer participants questions during and after the live webinar.

Engaging people all over the world

Over 500 people register for an ISES webinar, every month. Top ten participant countries from past webinars are: United States, India, Mexico, Germany, United Kingdom, Australia, Spain, Peru, Italy and Turkey.

Technical presentations have proven to be of great interest, as over half of the participants are scientists and engineers already active in the field of renewable energy.

The webinar recording and presentations are available on the ISES website for a limited time and are then posted in the ISES Members Area.

A special highlight of ISES webinars is the interactive Q&A session. Questions come exclusively from participants and provide an engaging forum for dialog with the panelists.
